

4.10.3 Database design and normalisation techniques

Content	Additional information
Normalise relations to third normal form.	Students should know what properties are possessed by a relation in third normal form.
Understand why databases are normalised.	