

4.2.4 Work, Poverty and Welfare

Students are expected to be familiar with sociological explanations of the following content:

- the nature, existence and persistence of poverty in contemporary society
- the distribution of poverty, wealth and income between different social groups
- responses and solutions to poverty by the state and by private, voluntary and informal welfare providers in contemporary society
- organisation and control of the labour process, including the division of labour, the role of technology, skill and de-skilling
- the significance of work and worklessness for people's lives and life chances, including the effects of globalisation.
