

3.6.1 Setting human resource objectives

Content	Additional information
The value of setting human resource objectives	Human resource objectives include: • employee engagement • talent development • training • diversity • alignment of employee and employer values • number, skills and location of employees.
Methods of achieving human resource objectives	Methods should include soft and hard human resource management (HRM) approaches.