

3.6.2 Analysing human resource performance

Content	Additional information
Calculating and interpreting human resource data	Students should be able to calculate and interpret: • labour turnover • labour productivity • employee costs as percentage of turnover • labour cost per unit.
The use of data for human resource decision making and planning	