

4.10.5 Client server databases

Content	Additional information
Know that a client server database system provides simultaneous access to the database for multiple clients. Know how concurrent access can be controlled to preserve the integrity of the database.	Concurrent access can result in the problem of updates being lost if two clients edit a record at the same time. This problem can be managed by the use of record locks, serialisation, timestamp ordering, commitment ordering.