

3.1.13 Enterprise and marketing in the development of products

Content	Potential links to maths and science
Students should be aware of, and able to explain, the importance of marketing and brand identity, including: • customer identification • labelling • packaging • corporate identification • concept of global marketing: • the promotion and advertisement of products including the use of new technologies, eg social media, viral marketing • product costing and profit • awareness of the role of entrepreneurs. Students should be aware of, and able to explain, the collaborative working of designers in the development of new and innovative products, including virtual and face-to-face collaborative working systems.	Interpretation of market research data, calculating costs and profit.