

3.5.1 Citizenship action – the actions of others

This element of Paper 1 assesses the nature of active citizenship and draws upon the fifth key question in each of the three subject content themes (How can citizens make their voice heard and make a difference in society? (page 11), How do citizens play a part to bring about change in the legal system? (page 12) and How can citizens try to bring about political change? (page 14)). Questions in this section may be from any of these three content themes or come from a combination of them.
