

3.4.2 Choice of media language

Content	Guidance notes
How choice (selection, combination and exclusion) of elements of media language influences meaning in media products to create narratives, to portray aspects of reality, to construct points of view, and to represent the world in ways that convey messages and values.	The 'rules' of media language: how signs are selected, deselected and assembled to conform to codes and make meanings. Register and modes of address: • Direct and indirect address The constructed nature of reality.