

3.5.8 E3b

Basic foundation content	Additional foundation content	Higher content only
Compare different data sets using appropriate calculated or given measure of spread: range.	Compare different data sets using appropriate calculated or given measure of spread: • interquartile range • percentiles.	Compare different data sets using appropriate calculated or given measure of spread: standard deviation.

Notes: comparisons should be context based interpretations, not just observations of difference. Use of calculator functions is encouraged.