

6.2 Bacteria as pathogens

- i Understand that bacteria can be agents of infection, invading and destroying host tissues and producing toxins.
- ii Understand that pathogenic effects can be produced by exotoxins (Staphylococcus spp.), endotoxins (Salmonella spp.) and invasion of host tissue (Mycobacterium tuberculosis).