

2.3 Data storage and compression	2.3.1	understand that data storage is measured in binary multiples (bit, nibble, byte, kibibyte, mebibyte, gibibyte, tebibyte) and be able to construct expressions to calculate file sizes and data capacity requirements
	2.3.2	understand the need for data compression and methods of compressing data (lossless, lossy)