

5.3 The way in which the selection of components and systems is influenced	The influence of the following factors when selecting materials/components for a specific application.
	5.3.1 Aesthetic factors – the selection of materials and finishes for enclosures and cases: - a form - b colour - c texture.
	5.3.2 Environmental factors: - a the principles of the Restriction of Hazardous Substances (RoHS) Directive for selection - b the principles of the Waste Electrical and Electronic Equipment (WEEE) Directive for disposal.
	5.3.3 Availability factors: - a use of stock materials - b use of specialist materials - c use of scarce elements.
	5.3.4 Cost factors: - a quality of component – tolerances - b manufacturing processes necessary.
	5.3.5 Social factors: - a use for different social groups - b trends/fashion - c popularity.
	5.3.6 Cultural and ethical factors: - a avoiding offence - b suitability for intended market - c use of colour and language - d the consumer society - e the effects of mass production - f built-in product obsolescence.

SYSTEMS

Key idea	What students need to learn:
----------	------------------------------