

5.7 Changing geopolitics and technology impact on the chosen developing or emerging country	a. How geopolitical relationships with other countries affect the chosen country's development: foreign policy, defence, military pacts, territorial disputes.
	b. How technology and connectivity support development in different parts of the chosen country and for different groups of people. (6)