

6.3 Renewable and non-renewable energy resources can be developed	a. Energy resources can be classified as renewable and non-renewable.
	b. Advantages and disadvantages of the production and development of one non-renewable energy resource.
	c. Advantages and disadvantages of the production and development of one renewable energy resource.