

Topic 2: Movement analysis

Subject content	What students need to learn
In this topic students will develop knowledge and understanding of the basic principles of movement and their effect on performance in physical activity and sport through the following content.
2.1 Lever systems, examples of their use in activity and the mechanical advantage they provide in movement	2.1.1	First, second and third class levers and their use in physical activity and sport
	2.1.2	Mechanical advantage and disadvantage (in relation to loads, efforts and range of movement) of the body's lever systems and the impact on sporting performance