

Topic 9: Sleep and dreaming – Why do you need to sleep and dream?

Subject content	What students need to learn:
9.1 Sleep and dreaming	9.1.1 Understand the functions, features and benefits of sleep, including: a. the four sleep stages b. REM c. the sleep cycle
	9.1.2 Understand the internal and external influences on sleep, including strengths and weaknesses of each explanation: a. bodily rhythms, to include (i) circadian rhythms (ii) ultradian rhythms b. hormones, to include (i) pineal gland (ii) melatonin c. zeitgebers, to include (i) light
	9.1.3 Understand symptoms and explanations of sleep disorders, including: a. insomnia b. narcolepsy
	9.1.4 Understand Freudian theory of dreaming (Freud, 1900), including strengths and weaknesses of the theory: a. manifest content b. latent content c. dreamwork
	9.1.5 Understand Activation Synthesis Theory (Hobson and McCarley, 1977), including strengths and weaknesses of the theory: a. random activation b. sensory blockade c. movement inhibition