

2.2 Communication

Understanding the importance of good communication and analysing the effects of poor communication on the management of the business (to include formal and informal groups).

Understanding how different methods of communication are used in a changing business environment through the use of paper and electronic methods, people and organisations.