Wider reading of literary texts is also encouraged to help students develop these skills.

Understanding the relationship between a text and its context (AO4)

There are different kinds, or categories, of context which affect writers' work and the reader's response to it. Teaching should include:

- the writer's own life and individual situation, including the place and time of writing, only where these relate to the text
- the historical setting, time and location of the text
- social and cultural contexts (for example, attitudes in society; expectations of different cultural groups)
- the literary context of the text, for example, literary movements or genres
- the way in which texts are received and engaged with by different audiences, at different times (for example, how a text may be read differently in the 21st century from when it was written).

Assessment overview

Component 1 assesses 60% of the total English Literature qualification.

There will be three sections on the paper.

Students must:

- demonstrate understanding of how writers create literary effects using, for example, imagery, descriptive skills, language choice, tone and mood, structure and form
- understand and use appropriate literary terminology
- identify and use relevant examples from poems.

Questions will test the following assessment objective:

AO2 Analyse the language, form and structure used by a writer to create meanings and effects.
