

6.03 Impulse and Momentum

Problems involving collisions in 1-D and 2-D are studied, using the principal of conservation of linear momentum and Newton's experimental law.

1. Spreadsheets: Learners should use spreadsheets to generate tables of values for functions and to investigate functions numerically.
2. Learners should use graphing software for modelling, including kinematics and projectiles