

2c. Content of Human interactions (H481/02)

The Human interactions (02) component is built around two main topics, Global Connections and Changing Spaces; Making Places. It investigates the actions, interactions and spatial patterns of people in places. Learners will build a picture of how the world around them is shaped by humans, starting from the local and moving out to regional, national and international scales.

Through examples and case studies learners will explore a variety of contrasting places, unpicking the flows and connections that have made them what they are and the way in which global systems and governance have local consequences. The concepts of inequality, interdependence, representation, identity and globalisation are particularly relevant to this component and qualitative research and fieldwork opportunities complement it well.
