

Unit Y321: The Middle East 1908–2011: Ottomans to Arab Spring

This theme focuses on Middle Eastern developments from the last years of the Ottoman Empire, through the creation of Mandates and successor states, their rivalries, the vision of Pan Arabism, conflict between Arab regimes and popular forces and to the regional and civil wars of the period 1908–2011. This includes the role of the Middle East in the wider world – its resources, global rivalries, the World Wars, the Cold War and as a problem requiring ‘solution’, especially the Arab-Israeli conflict – and the role of religion and the existence of various ethnic groupings. The detail of specific military conflicts is not expected, although the causes and consequences of these are. The themes identified below should not be studied in isolation to each other. They are not self-contained and questions may cross the identified themes.

Learners are not expected to demonstrate a detailed understanding of the specification content, except for the named in-depth studies, but are expected to know the main developments and turning points relevant to the theme.
