

5.1 Thermal physics

This section provides knowledge and understanding of temperature, matter, specific heat capacity and specific latent heat.

Experimental work can be carried out to safely investigate specific heat capacity of materials (HSW4). It also provides an opportunity to discuss how Newton's laws can be used to model the behaviour of gases (HSW1).