

1.2 Physical training

Learners will develop their knowledge and understanding of the components of fitness required for physical activities and sports and how each can be measured.

Learners will also be able to apply their knowledge of training principles to personal exercise/training programmes to improve fitness, along with the knowledge of how to optimise training and helping to prevent injury.