

8.4.2 Environmental Education

A number of topics within the specification such as stress, perception and cognitive development examine the influence of the environment upon psychological processes and behaviour.