

Areas of Study	Learners are required to work in one or more area(s) of Critical and Contextual Study, such as those listed below. Combinations of these areas are also possible: • fine art and sculpture • design • craft • art theory • the human form • landscape and natural forms • still life and designed objects • architecture and the built environment • art movements, styles and genres • curating exhibitions • art management and art in the community • cultural representations within art and design • multi-media, emerging technologies and their use in art. Techniques The following are some of the techniques available to Critical and Contextual Studies learners: extended written analysis to be accompanied by relevant visual research; collection and refinement of research taken from relevant sources; comparative analysis in the differentiation between styles, genres, subject matter and historical cultures; practical techniques as appropriate to the areas of study.
-----------------------	---