

1.1 What can be learnt by exploring contexts that design solutions are intended for?

- a. Understand that all design practice is context dependent and that investigations are required to identify what makes a context distinct in relation to:
 - i. environment and surroundings
 - ii. user requirements
 - iii. economic and market considerations
 - iv. product opportunities.