

4.7.1 Style of Question Papers

The assessment requirements of the various units are summarised in the table in Section 4.1.1.

Most units are assessed by a single question paper lasting $1\frac{1}{2}$ hours. The exceptions are as follows:

- there is also a coursework requirement in C3, DE and NM;
- the examinations for DC and NC last $2\frac{1}{2}$ hours;
- the examination for FPT lasts 2 hours;
- there are two parts to the examination for C4. As well as the $1\frac{1}{2}$ hour Paper A (with two sections) there is a comprehension paper lasting 1 hour (Paper B).

Many of the question papers have two sections, A and B. The questions in Section A are short and test techniques. The questions in Section B are longer and also test candidates' ability to follow a more extended piece of mathematics.

In most papers there is no choice of questions but there are options in the papers for the following units: FP3, DE, S4 and NC.
