

Area of Study 1: Instrumental Music of Haydn, Mozart and Beethoven

Outline	Learners should study in depth the development of Classical instrumental music as found in the instrumental works of Haydn, Mozart and Beethoven: • use attentive listening and contextual knowledge to analyse, evaluate and make critical judgements about the repertoire • use technical vocabulary to communicate a sophisticated understanding of music and its context. This includes but is not limited to: • Chamber Music • Symphony • Concerto • Sonata. A prescribed work from this Area of Study will be part of the focus for study although learners should understand about the context and development of the music around the prescribed work.
Focus for learning	Learners should analyse, explain and compare developments in instrumental style, including: • the characteristics and principles of instrumental music in the Classical period • the forms and style of the Classical period as found in the music of Haydn, Mozart and Beethoven. Learners should study and understand how classical composers use musical elements, including: • the orchestra and instruments of the Classical period • the use of instrumental techniques including articulation • instrumentation and texture • techniques of melodic construction • the use of harmonic language including inversions, cadences and harmonic progressions • phrasing and structure • musical vocabulary and terminology related to instrumental music e.g Harmonic change and melodic and harmonic devices • dynamics and expressive devices. Learners should study and understand the conditions and context in which Classical instrumental music was created and performed, including: • the historical and social context of the music of the Classical period • the effect of purpose and intention on how music is created and developed • the reading and writing of associated staff notation • working conditions for musicians.