

4.3 Unit R068: Design a business proposal

Aims

Creating a new product is an exciting challenge. If you want your product to make a profit, then it must meet customer needs but also stand out from similar products that are on the market. This unit will provide you with the skills and knowledge to design a product proposal to meet a business brief.

In this unit you will learn how to develop market research tools and use these to complete your market research. You will use your research findings to decide who your customers will be, create a design mix and produce your product design idea. To help decide on your design, you will gain feedback and then assess the strengths and weaknesses of your idea. You will complete financial calculations to determine whether your proposal is likely to make a profit. You will use the evidence you have generated to decide whether you think that your new product is likely to be financially viable. On completion of this unit, you will have gained some of the essential skills and knowledge needed if you want to start a business, but also the transferable skills of creativity, self-assessment, providing and receiving feedback, research and evaluation. The skills and knowledge developed from this unit will also be transferable to further learning in and when completing Unit R069 Market and pitch a business proposal.
