

2c. Content of Living in the UK Today (J383/01)

This component investigates the dynamic and diverse geography of the UK. It draws on a range of themes to explore the changing but distinctive physical and human environments, the processes which drive them and the challenges they create. The content is divided into three themes exploring landscapes of the UK, the UK's economic development and the people who live in the UK, and some of the environmental challenges that the country faces.
