

2c. Content of Religion, philosophy and ethics in the modern world from a religious perspective (J625/06–10)

Introduction to Component Group 2

In these components learners will approach the study of religion, philosophy and ethics in the modern world through a study of four key themes.

Learners will follow a study of philosophical and ethical arguments and their impact and influence in the modern world.

Learners will be able to demonstrate the depth of their understanding of religion through the application of teachings from religions, beliefs and through references to any sources of wisdom and authority. These may include scripture and/or sacred texts.

Learners are required to follow this thematic approach through one of the religions they have chosen to study from Component Group 1.

Learners are required to consider the themes from different perspectives within the religion.

The spelling of words which have been transliterated from non-Roman alphabets will be used consistently through the assessment materials. Learners will not be penalised for the use of other common spellings.

For Buddhism and Hinduism, learners should be aware that suggested sources of wisdom and authority are examples of references to core Buddhist/Hindu concepts made within Buddhist/Hindu writings. Modern understandings of these concepts are constructed from multiple sources and tradition, rather than being based on a single text.

Learners should be able to:

- analyse, evaluate and discuss the issues raised by the areas of study for their chosen religion and individuals, communities and societies
- demonstrate the depth of their understanding of their chosen religion by referring to teachings, beliefs, views, attitudes and values, supported by reference to relevant sources of wisdom and authority, including scripture and/or sacred texts where appropriate consider significant common and divergent views within their chosen religion
- refer, where appropriate, to different philosophical, ethical or religious perspectives in support of explanations or arguments
