

1.1 Unit description

Genre studies and critical appreciation of text

In this unit students will study the genres of prose and poetry. Groups of texts have been put together to draw out common or contrasting aspects.

In poetry it is the use poets make of the conventions of writing should be taught alongside critical appreciation of the texts. Students will read one selection of poems identified for study from a choice of three published collections.

In prose it is the use writers make of narrative in prose which should be taught alongside the critical appreciation of the novels. There is a choice of five groupings of texts.

Students will read one core literary heritage novel and one further novel or novella from the same grouping to inform their reading and response.

This unit meets the requirement for one genre from prose fiction, poetry or drama to be studied at Advanced Subsidiary and that one text should be included from the period 1800-1945.
