

7.7 Global influence is contested in a number of different economic, environmental and political spheres.	a. Tensions can arise over the acquisition of physical resources (Arctic oil and gas) where ownership is disputed and disagreement exists over exploitation. (A: attitudes and actions in relation to resources)
	b. The global system of intellectual property rights can be undermined by counterfeiting, which strains trade relations and TNC investment.
	c. Political spheres of influence can be contested leading to tensions over territory and physical resources (🌐 South and East China Seas) and in some cases resulting in open conflict (🌐 Western Russia/Eastern Europe) with implications for people and physical environments.