

5.2 Methods of production

Understanding job, batch and flow. The main features of each method and applications of each system particularly in relation to the use and management of resources.