

Areas of Study	Learners are required to work in one or more area(s) of Three-Dimensional Design, such as those listed below. Combinations of these areas are also possible: • craft or commercial ceramics • commercial sculpture or sculptural commissions • commercial Three-Dimensional Design, working for a client to create a three-dimensional item, such as an item of jewellery • design and/or construction for television, games or film • stage, environmental or architectural design and/or construction • experimental Three-Dimensional Design (construction/montage/ assemblage) • body ornament (jewellery, fashion accessories, body painting and film or TV prosthetics) • product design and realisation • constructions in a range of materials. Techniques The following are some of the techniques available to learners in Three-Dimensional Design: drawing, modelling, casting, construction, carving, metal working, computer-aided design, welding, assemblage, laser cutting, 3D printing, ceramics and mixed-media applications.
-----------------------	---