

Areas of Study

Learners are required to work in one or more area(s) of Critical and Contextual Study, such as those listed below. Combinations of these areas are also possible:

- fine art and sculpture
- design
- craft
- art theory
- the human form
- landscape and natural forms
- still life and designed objects
- architecture and the built environment
- art movements, styles and genres
- curating exhibitions
- art management and art in the community
- cultural representations within art and design
- multi-media, emerging technologies and their use in art.

Techniques

The following are some of the techniques available to Critical and Contextual Studies learners: extended written analysis to be accompanied by relevant visual research; collection and refinement of research taken from relevant sources; comparative analysis in the differentiation between styles, genres, subject matter and historical cultures; practical techniques as appropriate to the areas of study.