

Human resource management within a business environment	Organisation	• explain organisation structure: line relationships, staff relationships, chain of command, span of control, authority, responsibility, centralisation, decentralisation, delegation and layering • explain models of organisation structure: hierarchy, by function, by product, system, matrix and division • distinguish between tall and flat organisational structures • evaluate the usefulness of organisational structures used by a business • evaluate the significance of organisational structures to a business and its stakeholders.
--	---------------------	---