

1.7 SPIRITUAL, MORAL, ETHICAL, SOCIAL AND CULTURAL ISSUES

Students are required to examine arguments critically and so to distinguish between truth and falsehood. They are also expected to interpret the results of modelling exercises and there are times when this inevitably raises moral and cultural issues. Such issues will not be assessed in the examination questions; nor do they feature, per se, in the assessment criteria for any coursework tasks.