

6.11 Meeting the demands for water resources could involve technology and interventions by different interest groups	a. How attitudes to the exploitation and consumption of water resources vary with different stakeholders (individuals, organisations and governments). (3)
	b. How technology (desalination) can resolve water resource shortages.